EDUCARE The Swedish Preschool Model
The famous Swedish approach to Preschool (EDUCARE), integrates education and play and promotes entrepreneurial learning. It puts children in the centre. Learning through play is essential. Children should have fun and be happy while learning.
The Preschool lays the foundations for the first part of children’s learning which will continue for the rest of their lives.

The Preschool enables children to create, learn and explore through playing, cooperating with others, painting, building and singing.

Creating security for both children and parents is an important task of the Preschool.
The groups of children should have an appropriate composition and size, and the facilities should be fit-for-purpose.

There should be Preschool teachers and also other staff with the education and experience necessary to support the child's development and learning.

Premises and equipment should be available so that the aim of the Preschool can be fulfilled.
The educational philosophy of Reggio Emilia is widely used in Preschools in Sweden. It has gained world-wide popularity due to its holistic approach, placing the natural development of the child at its core.

Documentation is a key element; it communicates the life of the school and the development and learning process of each child. It gives parents and staff a powerful tool for follow-up on school activities and learning development.
The Swedish Preschools are governed by the Education Act and the national Curricula.

The Preschools are supervised by the Swedish National Agency for Education but also by local authorities.

Full-day EduCare is available from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. for children ages one to six.
